Business Agility, API-led Transformation for Swedish Financial Services Company

LTI helped client to become a connected enterprise with a modern, unified API platform for innovative products and faster time-to-market

Business Needs

- ✓ Existing point-to-point legacy architecture was not scalable with business agility needs and was posing a big challenge in adapting to changes required for new products and services.
- ✓ This was further amplified with high infrastructure costs as existing integration infrastructure was mainly on-premises, which was not in line with their cloud-first strategy.
- ✓ Creating new integrations was cumbersome owing to lack of unified integration platform and impacting go to market initiatives

LTI Solution

LTI implemented a centralized API-led integration platform replacing the existing legacy integration layer and connecting 25+ heterogeneous applications across 11 countries.

Powered by MuleSoft CloudHub Anypoint platform, the new improved API layer made data available “on tap” to business units for driving quick business decisions, and to developers for creating new products and applications.

The new API ecosystem encouraged reusability and improved data security, availability, and scalability throughout the organization.

Key Takeaway

A holistic API ecosystem coupled with an API-led approach can transform the existing technology/ application landscape to ensure uninterrupted services.
