

Case Study

Reducing Operational Costs by Migrating to Oracle Analytics Cloud for a Leading Swedish Oil Manufacturing Company

Client

The client is a European manufacturer of specialty naphthenic oils and bitumen products having sales offices in more than 30 countries and a global distribution network with 60 storage depots.

Challenge

Moving from a legacy BI system to new-age cloud technologies, involving a multi-step process:

Digitizing the BI landscape from legacy version to a state-of-the-art application by means of upgrades and cloud transformation.

Requirement to retain the core client-specific data security functionalities in the cloud architecture.

Achieving better performance after cloud transformation.

LTI Solution

- Structured deployment across multiple environments with two-step upgrades for OBI and ODI

- Migration of data warehouse from a low-end platform to Oracle autonomous data warehouse

---

- Transforming both ODI and OBI to cloud services, leveraging the native advantages of cloud computing

Business Benefits Delivered

30% improvement in report performance with numerous new functionalities.
